Steve Mazzuchelli, Milford Exterminating Services President & his dog Lucchi

MOSQUITOES

Mosquitoes can carry and transmit diseases to humans and pets

- Including but not limited to; Encephalitis, Dengue fever, Yellow fever, Malaria, West Nile Virus, and most recently Zika Virus

TICKS

Tick-transmitted infections have become more common these days.

- Ticks can carry and transmit, to both humans and pets, conditions such as Lyme Disease and B. Miyamotoi

Ticks are most active between April through October, with a higher population during summer months.

We recommend being treated for both Ticks and Mosquitoes at least three times between April and October to ensure the lowest population of these pests!
